2020 BCFTA Merchants Lunch – Tuesday 21st April 2020

Programme for the day

11.00 hrs Welcome at Yeo Valley HQ Lecture Theatre, Rodyate, Blagdon, Nr Bristol BS40 7YE by Neil Chapman, President BCFTA

11.05 hrs BCFTA Annual General Meeting

11.30 hrs Anna Jones is a freelance journalist, broadcaster, farmer's daughter and Nuffield Farming Scholar.

SPEAKER

She covered rural affairs at the BBC for 12 years; directing BBC One's Countryfile, producing and presenting Radio 4's Farming Today, On Your Farm and Costing the Earth and reporting on agricultural issues for BBC News and the World Service. She has written for The Guardian, Farmers Guardian and Farmers Weekly.

Anna's career took an unexpected turn after her Nuffield Farming Scholarship in 2016/17, which looked at how the media portrays farming and country life to the public. She travelled the world and discovered a deep disconnect between the metropolitan mainstream media and a distrustful and defensive farming industry.

It made Anna determined to motivate farmers to step up and share their stories. She left the BBC in 2018 to set up a communications project called 'Just Farmers', aimed at connecting journalists and programme makers with independent, authentic voices at the grassroots of farming. She travels all over the world talking about her mission to improve openness and transparency in modern agriculture.

If she's not overseas or making programmes, Anna is likely travelling on the M5 between her home in Bristol and her parents' beef and sheep farm on the Welsh borders. She's yet to find a place that feels more like home than the family farm.

12.30 hrs Introduction and Welcome from Jon Wilson, Farm Manager of Yeo Valley

13.00 hrs LUNCH

14.00hrs Move to Holt Farm for a FARM VISIT (BS40 7SQ)

Bristol Corn & Feed Trade Association Development Programme

BCFTA has developed over the years a suite of training courses which have specifically been designed for the grain and feed trade with additional ones added at Member Company's requests. These courses have developed into a training and development programme for those working within the Grain & Feed Trade and are currently;

Module	Training Course
1	Trade Awareness: This course has developed over the years from the original one which was very much an introduction course for new employees to one that is a must attend one for both those who have been working in the trade and relatively new employees. It is a residential course over two days which is a mix of presentations and visits on the trade covering sourcing, storage, handling, production and ending on a farm so that the attendees gain an understanding of the complete chain that is the supply trade.
2	Nutrition: BCFTA runs one and a two day nutrition courses which have been designed for those wanting basic to more advanced training. These courses make use of industry professionals as the trainers and are tailor made to meet the requirements of the course attendees.
3	Customer Service: This course is designed for all staff who have direct contact with customers and provides training on the core skills associated with this critical and important area
4	Professional Selling Skills: The BCFTA Professional Selling Skills training courses are run by a professional trainer and takes place over one day. As with all BCFTA Courses they follow a basic structure but are adapted and developed to meet specific requirements of course attendees as identified before the course.
5	Quality Systems: This course is designed for both existing and new staff members who are responsible for or involved in running quality systems within the grain and feed trade.
6	Production: This BCFTA Course is a 3 day residential course one that takes place in the Netherlands. It makes use of a purpose designed production training facility and is suitable for those involved directly or indirectly in animal feed manufacture.
7	Technical: The BCFTA Trading Technical Analysis training course is designed for those involved in buying or selling raw materials and provides an insight and understanding of the tools used within the trading world.
8	Legislation: Legislation and the associated changes are a challenge to companies to keep up to date with. BCFTA are planning to develop a course to cover key legislation that affects the industry so as to keep those responsible within member companies aware of their responsibilities.
9	Project Management: The success of any project within a business is the management of the project and this course is for those who have such responsibility.
10	Basic Management Skills: This course is designed to help individuals who work on their own or who manage others, subjects being covered include; Time management, Communication, Task Appraisal, Projects and Budgetary Control.
11	Contracts: This course is designed for individuals who buy or sell materials and covers the reasons for contracts, the available contracts, what to look out for within a contract and what to do when things go wrong.
12	Study Tour: This provides an opportunity to gain an insight into what others are doing within the industry, share best practice and make contacts.
